WORSE THAN THE INQUISITION

The Spanish inquisition, with its devices of torture, has long been considered one of the cruelest forms of punishment devised by mankind, although there is little doubt that primitive people have devised more ingenious and more tantalizing devices to inflict vengeance upon enemies.

Americans, who have heard of the rack, etc., sometimes shudder to think of the suffering that their victims endured. They rarely continue their cogitation long enough to realize that modern civilization has an instrument of torture that is inflicting greater punishment upon people than the inquisition. Nevertheless, the automobile today is the vehicle that wins the trick quite handsomely when we reflect upon the broken bones and mangled forms that strewn the highways of this modern nation.

Words are inadequate to describe the horrible suffering that some victims of our modern, so-called "inevitable" and "unavoidable" accidents must endure. Bodies broken, bent

Queen Contest Winner To Go To Elks Meet

Richmond Lodge of Elks yesterday announced that the winner of the queen contest to be held here during the month of July celebration will be sent to the Elks Convention in Los Angeles in July with $100 for expenses. She will then compete for the honor of being "Miss Liberty" on the California float in the Elks parade on July 16.

All the contestants sent by California Elks lodge will be attendants for "Miss Liberty" who will receive a screen test.

The Elks convention is seeking a typical California girl to represent each California lodge in the parade of beauty which will feature the Elks' grand convention hall at the Palomar on July 14. The winner will be selected by a jury of famous motion picture directors, artists and representatives of lodges.

Two El Cerrito Residents Hurt In Auto Accident

Two El Cerrito residents sustained slight cuts and bruises in an automobile accident early last evening at Alhambra and Liberty streets, according to hospital reports.

George Scott and Rudolf Finch, both of El Cerrito, were treated at an Albany hospital and were then sent home.

According to police reports the two men were involved in an automobile collision at the intersection. Both machines were damaged in the crash.

Theft Of Auto Reported Here

Richmond police last night were investigating theft of an automobile from the rear of a local apartment house.

Leroy Yepson, of 4301 Potrero avenue, reported that the machine was taken some time between 3 o'clock Friday evening and 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The car is a 1936 Chevrolet coupe.

Suits Filed On Air Mail Are Settled

WASHINGTON, June 27.—More than $8,000,000 in damage suits filed against the Government by four major air lines, after Postmaster General James A. Farley cancelled their Federal airmail contracts two years ago were settled out of court by the New Deal today for less than 10 cents on the dollar.

The companies agreed to drop their court of claims action amounting to $8,341,094 in return for $601,511. The move left about $6,000,000 in suits still pending.

IN EXPECTED MOVE
The settlement was unexpected, ending a major part of the political controversy which flared in February, 1934, when Farley summarily cancelled 27,000 miles of GENEVA, June 27.—UP—The decision of the League of Nations council to abandon Ethiopia to her fate was protested vigorously by the vanquished African kingdom today.

Dedjazmash Nasib, one of Emperor Haile Selassie's right-hand military leaders, who is in Geneva with the Negus, sent a letter to the League calling on the signatories of the covenant to fulfill their obligations.

The League's lost of prestige because of its failure to save Ethiopia was further emphasized today when Nicaragua, following the recent example of Guatemala and Honduras, telegraphed its resignation.

Police Probing Auto Accident

Richmond police last night were investigating a non-injury accident at Thirty-seventh street and Macdonald avenue.

Lee Johnson, who is employed by a local trucking concern, was the driver of one of the machines, police reported. The driver of the second car was not known. Johnson's car was slightly damaged in the crash.

JAPS AWAIT OPENING OF CHINA WAR

HONGKONG, June 27.—UP—Civil war between North and South China, with the Japanese standing by to salvage direct or indirect control of a further segment of the north, appeared imminent tonight.

General Chiang Kai-Shek, northern leader, had some 300,000 troops concentrated on the borders of the Southern Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces, under the control of the semi-autonomous Canton government.

TROOPS ADVANCE
Chiang, showing a disposition to negotiate rather than fight, held his troops in line, but the southern forces, demanding a unified Chinese opposition to Japan, began to advance.

Two divisions of Kwangsi troops advanced towards Kowliang, capital of Kweichow province, which lies northwest of Kwangsi and is neutral as between the northern and southern government.

Truck Driver Is Arrested On Drunk Charge

Charged with driving while drunk, Webb Goodwin, of Brentwood, was lodged in the county jail last night awaiting appearance in the San Pablo justice court.

Goodwin was arrested by State Traffic Officers Clarence Miller and H. Kehlor in the town of San Pablo shortly after 7 o'clock last evening, following a police broadcast that he had been seen driving in an erratic manner.

Goodwin's truck was placed in a San Pablo garage, the driver was examined by a physician and was then taken to the county jail.

20 Cottages To Be Constructed In Pullman Tract

Construction of 20 cottages in the Pullman park tract, just east of Pullman avenue and south of the Santa Fe branch track, was announced yesterday by H. E. Russell, local real estate man. Ground will be broken on Tuesday.

The home building program is the result of a year's work in obtaining FHA approval for financing low-priced homes. Approval has finally been obtained with the assistance of the American Trust Company in Richmond.

Russell will act as his own contractor, letting sub-contracts to local contractors. Each of the 20 homes will be of an individual design, no two alike. They will be four and five rooms and each will sell for not more than $3000.

Abortions Banned By New Red Ukase

MOSCOW, June 27.—UP—An official decree was issued today abolishing abortion except to save the life of the mother, or in cases of hereditary illness.

The price of divorce was raised as much as 3000 per cent and divorces were prohibited in cases where only one party appears. The decree tended toward abolishing the former laxness regarding family life and established retroactive houses for three families.

Healey's Office To Investigate Charges Against Night Club

While Alameda county authorities were making an investigation that may result in filing of serious charges, Deputy District Attorney Homer Patterson yesterday was conducting an investigation for the district attorney's office into the alleged employment of 15-year-old Phyllis Cross at the Wagon Wheel, a night club in No Man's Land, just west of El Cerrito.

Prod E. Stewart, state board of equalization member for this district has ordered a "full report" on the case. In asking J. W. Soares, board liquor control enforcement chief to make the investigation, Stewart said that "if any violation of the alcoholic beverage control act is involved, we will revoke the license of the violator."

MYATT ON JOB
Patterson said yesterday that Melvin Myatt, special investigator for the district attorney's office will be conducting the inquiry and that if evidence is uncovered, charges will be filed.

Fire Captain Is Killed In Marin Blaze

SAN RAFAEL, June 27.—UP—Robert Meador, 27, captain of the San Rafael fire department was burned to death and another fireman, Paul Chirone, 22, was injured seriously in fighting a raging brush fire today on Sleepy Hollow Acres near San Anselmo.

The firemen were fighting the flames, which spread over 30 acres before brought under control by carrying five-gallon cans of water. In some manner Meador became separated from his companions and it was not until the fire was out and his charred body found was it known that he had died.

Chirone the injured fireman, was overcome by smoke and fell into a deep ravine. Taken to the hospital it was said he suffered a possible fracture of the spine, injury to his eyes and numerous bruises.

BIG SUM WAS PAID TO GET PERMIT BACK

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—UP—Charges that he was deliberately "framed" out of his wholesale liquor license and was forced to spend about $40,000 to have it restored, were made today before the Assembly Investigating committee by John A. "Foghorn" Murphy, liquor dealer and close friend of Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

Murphy declared the revocation of his license, under the administration of Ray L. Edgar, El Centro members of the board, was due to his antagonistic attitude toward the liquor administration.

CARRIED CASE TO GOVERNOR
The license was restored only after he had carried the case personally to Governor Merriam and Fred Stewart, Oakland board member. (Continued on page 8)

Large Crowds Visit New Conn Drug Co. Store

Richmond residents inspected the new Conn Drug Company store which was formally opened yesterday by Elmer Conn at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue.

From an early hour in the morning until late last evening the new store was crowded by local residents who took advantage of the many bargains offered by the establishment.

Citizens inspected the store thoroughly during the day and many favorable comments were heard. Conn and his staff were praised for the beautiful appearance of the store.

Brentwood Votes 'Against Park

MARTINEZ, June 27.—Voting 118 to 81 against formation of a park district, Brentwood voters today had defeated a project calling for beautification of the Brentwood town park.

County Clerk S. C. Wells today was advised of the vote cast at yesterday's election.

The balloting climaxed more than three years of effort to transform the park from an unimproved area to a well kept recreation center. The park is used each year in the annual Apricot festival.

In April a petition was presented to the board of supervisors asking that a park district be formed. The supervisors set May 18 as the date for hearing objections, and when none were made, the election date was fixed.

Jim Farley Again Heads Bourbons

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—UP—Postmaster General James A. Farley, was unanimously re-elected today chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

He was nominated by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy Helvering of Kansas who described him as "a man not given to extravagant statements." Farley told the committee, "the party is frankly in a better financial situation than ever."

Cappy Lands Endorsement To Start New Bourbon Row

OAKLAND, June 27.—Endorsement of C. A. "Cappy" Ricks, of the sixth congressional district by a "rump" meeting in Oakland on Friday night has created a row for the Democratic conference of the Fifth and Sixth districts. The meeting also endorsed John Dorgan, Jr., for the seventh district.

The endorsement of Coggial leaves Congressman John Tolson "out on the limb" and his friends are reported to be scurrying hither and yon in an effort to correct the situation.

SOMETHING NEW
The pledge to support Ricks, who lost out the endorsement of the Townsends, is something novel in Democratic circles, since Ricks is a registered member of the Progressive Party and the conference directors passed up two Democrats, Charles Wagner and Stitt Wilson, in order to hand the endorsement to the Martinez man.

Although the regular scheduled meeting of the conference was called for Friday night, Earl M. Broderick, president, and Sherman Kemp, Jr., the secretary of the organization, declared that the meeting was postponed and that the regular session would take place July 10. Both Broderick and Kemp declared Friday night's session was a "rump" meeting with no possible effect on the action which will later be taken.

But the 66 members of the conference who attended remain firm in their contention that the meeting was regular, and they will battle any attempt to change the endorsements or to alter the minutes. (Continued on page 8)

Soviets And Japanese At Sword Point

WASHINGTON, June 27.—UP—Tension between Soviet Russia and Japan may be increased, observers believed today as result of inner Mongolia's submission to Japan and creation thereby of a new thousand mile border line where the two powers face each other across their vassal states.

Proclamation of Inner Mongolia's separation from China and its attachment to Japan, presumably on the same status as Manchukuo, caused no surprise here. For the last two years it was known Japanese agents were working among the petty Mongolian princes to bring them under Tokyo's rule.

Japanese Deny Bayonet Incident

PEIPING, June 27.—UP—Japanese officials in a statement to the French embassy today, denied that Japanese soldiers thrust bayonets at foreigners last Tuesday.

They suggested that language difficulties probably magnified the misunderstanding and promised to take precautions against a recurrence.

So far no reply has been made to the American embassy, which requested the Japanese to investigate an incident in which an American Army officer allegedly was prodded with a bayonet.

College Manager Taken By Death

SAN JOSE, June 27.—UP—Webster Benton, 23, graduate manager of San Jose State College, died today from complications following an appendicitis operation. Four blood transfusions from former classmates and local police failed to save him.

NOMINATION ACCEPTED BY ROOSEVELT

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—UP—Franklin Delano Roosevelt tonight accepted his renomination for President of the United States with a summons to special privilege to come out from behind the constitution to fight, and a cheer-lifting declaration that he is "enlisted for the duration of the war."

"I accept the commission you have tendered me," the President told an hysterically enthusiastic gathering of delegates to the late Democratic national convention and an audience of thousands drawn from the farms and cities of the mid-Atlantic states.

HAS ENLISTED
"I join with you. I am enlisted for the duration of the war," Vice-President John Nance Garner preceded Mr. Roosevelt to the platform to accept the renomination that was voted him today.

The President and Vice-President were recommended in the wind-up sessions of the Democratic national convention which adjourned at 2:30 P. M. since die, having re-cast the party's principles and merged the political organization founded by Thomas Jefferson with the Roosevelt New Deal.

Garner, accepting the vice-presidential nomination, said: (Continued on page 8)

Elk Lodge At Dance; Oakland Visits Tuesday

Richmond lodge of Elks last night held its final social affair of the season when members of the lodge, and their ladies were guests at a dance held at the clubrooms.

The affair, which was attended by a large crowd, was held under the direction of A. G. Robertson and committee.

The local lodge will convene Tuesday night at the clubrooms at which time members of the Oakland lodge of Elks will be guests. A 6:30 dinner for officers and members at Hotel Carquinez will precede the meeting.

Robert V. Collins will preside over the business meeting.

Glendale Hit By $200,000 Blaze

GLENDAL, June 27.—UP—Fire swept two laboratories and a factory tonight, injuring one fireman and causing damage that may reach $200,000.

The blaze started in the Lormann Industrial Research laboratory and spread to the Selmt Chemical Laboratory and the Almond Products Company. All three buildings were gutted.

Communist Party Platform Outlined

NEW YORK, June 27.—UP—Leaders of the Communist party gave a preview in addresses to the party's national convention tonight of a platform of social legislation to be presented to the convention tomorrow.

The platform will include a plan of resistance to war and fascism, endorsement of legislation for protection of labor along the lines of the Landrum-Griffin bill and a point form program including moratorium on debts, crop insurance and protection of farmers from "squeezing" by utilities and commission merchants.

GENE SARAZEN IS SECOND IN BRITISH OPEN

HOVLAK, Rom. June 27.—(AP)—With much more than a course in his heart, Alf Padham conquered the tortuous Hovlake links with a pair of non-shattering 71's today to win the British open golf championship with a 72-hole aggregate of 287.

His two final rounds, six strokes under par, witnessed his challenging rivals as thoroughly as they did the wind-swept seaside course. The man who finished second last year, posted himself second early and a group of golfers more famed than him, including the red-hot Henry Cotton and the American hero, Gene Sarazen, went out and shot at it.

Cotton, who loved with par in the qualifying rounds when the heat wasn't on, led for the lead with Adams at the end of the morning 18 with a brilliant 70.

Sarazen made a bold bid for the title but failed. He was three strokes off par when the final round started. He went out in 36, and needed only a 34—which he shot this morning on his third round—to tie Padham.

Thus, the title which once was the annual property of America stayed at home for the third straight year—kept here by the "hostile" golfer of the year.

Uncle Sam's other three survivors didn't do so badly. Ted Turner, Pine Valley, N. C. professional, shot 298; and Willie Coggin, San Bruno, Calif., had a 302 along with Ernie Ball of Mobile, Ala.

Doctor, Girl are In Custody In Operation Ring

SEATTLE, Wash., June 27.—UP—Dr. Victor G. Ubinski, San Francisco physician, and Violet Pellarini, who claims to be his secretary, were arrested here today by agents of Detective Marshall Crawford when they stepped off the steamship Northwestern from Italy.

Seattle's chief of Police, William J. Quinn of San Francisco, had telegraphed him to hold them for jailing $10,000 individual bail in San Francisco in connection with the illegal operation case in that city.

At the time of the arrest, a Mrs. Charles Cohen, also of San Francisco, was waiting on the dock for them with her car. She was held for questioning but was released when she told authorities she had advertised for traveling companions and did not know who the two suspects were.

It was learned today that San Francisco authorities were leaving them tonight to return Dr. Ubinski and Violet Pellarini to face the charges there.

Paul Kelly Of Films Reported
Missing On Trip

HOLLYWOOD, June 27.—UP—Paramount studio officials today launched a cross-country search for Paul Kelly, motion picture actor, who, they said, had disappeared while driving here from New York City.

Accompanying Kelly was his wife, the former Dorothy McKeay, and an unidentified friend. Last word received from the actor was a letter to his daughter, West 14, mailed from Pittsburgh, Pa., last Tuesday. The daughter said her father previously had written her every day.

Kelly has been cast in a picture and unless he is located production will be held up at a loss of several thousand dollars, studio officials said.

Torch Dancer
Files Suit For Divorce Decree

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Betsy Blossom, blonde torch dancer whose performance ascertained caused the disastrous Shalrock Club fire, today filed suit for divorce from her husband, charging desertion.

The suit was brought under her true name of Elizabeth Hansen and was directed against Elmer Hansen, proprietor of a beauty salon. The complaint prepared by her attorney, Elmer P. Delaney, stated simply that the couple were wed July 4, 1933, and that Hansen deserted her in April, 1934.

The "torch dancer" lives in Daly City. In her suit, she asserts that her husband is capable of earning $200 monthly, but she made no definite demand for alimony.

Charges of assault against both Blossom and her husband were preferred by their landlady Mrs. Benjamin Scott Young. Blossom avoided the charges when he was transferred to a sanitarium in Maryland outside jurisdiction of District authorities.

Mrs. Young asked today that the charges against Mrs. Blossom be dropped anyway and District Attorney Leslie Garnett replied that an immediate attempt will be made to serve the warrant.

UP—Thomas Meighan, star of the silent screen was reported "falling" tonight in his battle against an organic disorder. He was in a coma part of the time.

Uncle Sam Has Enough Goods
To Start Store

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Federal Housing Administration officials disclosed today that Uncle Sam now owns some 600 second hand electric refrigerators because the buyers were delinquent on purchase loans which the FHA insured.

The housing administration said about 1000 repossessions had been necessary. In addition to refrigerators, the government owns numerous electric and gas ranges, washing machines, oil burners, water heaters and other household equipment.

The FHA said these 1007 delinquencies represented only a tiny part of the 1,871,727 notes it has insured. Officials said less than one half of one per cent of the payments on $393,411,001 in notes of the FHA had insured were delinquent.

Drunk Attacks
Peter Voiss In San Jose Jail

SAN JOSE, June 27.—Peter Voiss, 72, who is now on trial for the murder of Dr. Jasper Gutierrez was removed to a cell by himself tonight after narrowly escaping a severe beating by an ascertained inmate.

The near-assault occurred, jailers said, when R. J. O'Rourke, 33, San Francisco salesman was arrested for drunken driving and placed in jail.

He recognized Voiss from newspaper pictures and shouting that "Voiss should be killed for killing Jasper," lunged toward him. The feeble old man cowering in a corner of a cell was rescued by deputies who were aroused by the shouting.

Wife Returning
Body Of Lawyer
To San Francisco

HONOLULU, T. H., June 27.—UP—J. K. Armsby, former president of J. K. Armsby, former president of the California Packing Corporation, today was enroute to the United States with the body of her husband, San Francisco attorney, who died Sunday from a skull fracture suffered during an altercation in front of a Waikiki restaurant.

Robert McManera, 26, Honolulu businessman, is under indictment on manslaughter charges growing out of Palmer's death.

Mrs. Palmer identified McManera as the man who ascertained struck her husband as they emerged from the restaurant. She has indicated that she will return for the trial.

BEN EASTMAN
IN GAMES TRY

TOLEDO, June 27.—UP—A long-hatched former Stanford star, today served notice to the world that he is as good or better than he is a runner. His record-breaking season in 1935, by running 800 meters in 1 minute, 50.1 seconds, in the Los Angeles Olympic finals.

Under a blistering sun, the slim, school-looking Eastman ran to an easy five-yard victory over Jim Miller, University of California at Los Angeles.

Eastman's run seemed down the track as he ran for the first time in his career. He was followed by Miller and Jim Miller.

The sandy-haired Wykoff came back to win his spot in the New York City finals by coping the 100-meters in 19.5 seconds, equalling his fastest time of his career for the short sprint.

The dusky Jim Lavarne leaped to a 46.8 seconds win the 400-meter by cutting the time 10 yards away from U. C. L. A.'s Jim Miller, and only one-tenth of a second away from the world record at 46.2. It was the fastest 400-meter race on the coast this year.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, June 25.—UP—Men ought to pluck their eyebrows Jack Dawn, movie make-up man announced, and then he considered going to the hills until the storm blows over.

"The ladies, I think, will agree with me," he said, "but the men"—he wrinkled his thin brows—"I hope the men won't misunderstand."

Dawn suggested use of tweezers on bushy brows as the first step in his one-man campaign to "pretty-up" men.

"If the men will cooperate, we can put a Gable in every home," Dawn bubbled.

First, the men will have to thin out the tumble-weed brows that spread like ivy across the bridges of their noses, he said.

"Such eyebrows give the entire face an unkempt appearance, but the condition is easily remedied."

Next, they'll have to learn how to use a comb, he said, getting in their hair.

"Men never give themselves a break," he said. "If they parted their hair a certain way when they donned their first pair of long pants, chances are ten to one that their hair would remain parted in that manner until only a shiny spot would testify where hair used to be."

"Instead of going on the theory that any style is good enough, he should experiment," he continued. "If his face is round, and if he is short, a center part would do wonders to make him appear taller and his face thinner. On the other hand, a tall man should part his hair on the side. If his face is boyish, a part on the left will give him more sophistication."

As examples to follow, Dawn cited several prominent leading men. "Note the manner in which Robert Taylor parts his hair," he said. "If you have a long, oval face such as Bob's, part your hair midway between a middle-part and a side-part. A face the shape of William Powell's wears a moustache to advantage, while Clark Gable looks equally well with or without a lip adornment."

Sideburns and pompadours belong in the "don't" column, Dawn believes.

Concerning clothes, Dawn advises close attention to the apparel of leading men of the screen.

"Since these men 'see' themselves as others see them, what they wear should be an excellent guide for the average man."

"Tall, rugged types such as Gable and Taylor are best suited to wear the large plaids. Plaids tend to make the individual shorter and should be avoided by short, stocky men."

"There is no more excuse for an unattractive man than there is for an unattractive woman," he concluded.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only maskers. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. See.

El Cerrito News

EL CERRITO RIFLE RANGE DEDICATED

The new El Cerrito pistol range was dedicated yesterday afternoon when the El Cerrito Women's Pistol team and the El Cerrito Revolver Club put on a match which the women won by a total of 109 points.

The new range is the result of weeks of hard work by a group of pistol enthusiasts. It lies in a small valley between the head of Manilla street and Fink Lane. The site was generously donated by the Hutchinson Construction company, which also hauled many tons of material for filling and leveling the range. Material for the building was furnished by the Griffin Lumber company and the labor was done by the police department and others interested in the project.

Shooting on the respective teams yesterday were: Mrs. Ada Glidewell, Mrs. Maude Burpee, Mrs. Algie Spalte, Mrs. Yvonne Stinnett, and Mrs. Bradison of Richmond, on the women's team and Jesse Hitebeck, Charles Schwake, Arthur Peralta, Ray Young and Dr. C. G. Spalte on the men's team.

Sermon Topic Today At Science Church

"The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened." These words from Matthew comprise the Golden Text to be used today, June 28, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be, "Christian Science," included among the Scriptural selections will be: "And seeing the multitudes, and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven... Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled" (Matt. 5: 1-3, 5, 6).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Christian Science may absorb the attention of sage and philosopher, but the Christian alone can fathom it. It is made known most fully to him who understands best the divine Life" (p. 556).

Chicago Girl Wins Title In Swimming Meet

NEW YORK, June 27.—UP—The diving dynasty of 12-year-old Mary Hoeger, of Miami Beach, Fla., came to an end in the drizzling rain today as Claudia Eckert, Chicago, wrested the 3-meter springboard championship from the tiny southern tot on the third day of the National A. A. U. women's swimming and diving championships.

The 135-pound Chicago girl who formerly held the indoor diving title, scored 132.33 points in ten dives—five compulsory and five optional—to dethrone the world's young sports champion. Miss Hoeger's total was 129.49, enabling her to nose out Janice Lifson, New York, who had 128.37 points.

It was a disastrous day for champions as two other titleholders lost their laurels. Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, dethroned Elizabeth Koppa, beautiful New York blonde, in retaining her title in the 220-yard backstroke.

Cappy Lands Endorsement To Start New Bourbon Row

utes of the session. They assert no postponement announcements were received or published in the Democratic organ, and sufficient members were present to constitute a quorum.

CAPPY CALLS MEETING

The meeting was called to order by Cappy Ricks, first vice-president of the organization, who, because he is a candidate and thus ineligible to hold office in the conference, turned the gavel over to Frank Luky, third vice-president.

Nominations for the conference endorsement were then called for and J. Stitt Wilson, former Socialist Mayor of Berkeley now running as a Democratic candidate for Congress in the Sixth District, was nominated by Lester O. Wisler. Ricks was then placed in nomination by Jack Manley, and Charles Wagner was nominated by Captain Bethel. When the vote was taken, Ricks had won by a substantial majority, and the meeting then voted to make the endorsement unanimous.

BATTLE IS ON

When the Seventh District discussion took place, Wisler nominated Congressman John Tolan and Corziat's name was presented by Kenneth Mirley. Corziat received a strong majority, and again the conference voted to make the endorsement unanimous.

If the action of the meeting stands the test of the battle scheduled for July 10, then Tolan, the incumbent Congressman, will have to make the race for re-election deprived of the endorsement from the Democrats of his district, and will have to stand solely as a Townsend candidate.

CLAR PARTY LINES

The issue will then be clarified for the voters of the district, for the party lines will be clear and distinct. Charles W. Fisher, assembly member in the 18th District, is the only Republican in the race and has the endorsement of every Republican organization. Corziat will have the Democratic endorsement and will stand as the Democratic candidate. Tolan will be the Townsend candidate, having already won that endorsement by his efforts to block the congressional investigation of the Townsend financial scandal.

That there is a real battle scheduled on the floor of the Democratic conference meeting July 10 is indicated by two additional actions taken at the Friday night meeting. A committee was appointed to investigate the authenticity of certain Democratic clubs holding membership in the conference, the charge being made that the conference had been packed with illegal directors appointed by leaders of the On With Roosevelt group. This investigating committee will make its report to the conference at the next meeting.

"NOT VALID"

The other trouble-breeding action taken was the discharge of the committee appointed to recommend endorsements.

Broderen states that neither action was valid because the session was illegal to start with. "Our by-laws provide that no quorum of the conference can be present unless the meeting is attended by the president and secretary," Broderen said.

"The endorsement committee has not been discharged, and a report of the committee will be submitted to the members at the next regular meeting."

One answer to the quarrel is the disbanding of the conference, and the prediction has been freely made by members of both factions within the organization that such a step will be taken shortly.

COMEDIES ARE FILM DISH AT THE FOX TODAY

"The Princess Comes Across," featuring Carole Lombard as a Swedish Princess (originally from Brooklyn) and Fred Mac Murray as a concertina playing band leader who is frittered in love, is on the Fox Theatre screen today in a program shared by Damon Runyan's "Three Wise Guys."

The MacMurray-Lombard team riots through wild woodlands and rollicking scenes aboard a luxury liner as it speeds across the Atlantic to New York.

MacMurray's efforts to gain favor with Miss Lombard, the "phony" princess, bring on all sorts of complications that evolve into one of the funniest comedies that the screen has to offer.

Alison Skipworth, Douglas Dumbrille, George Barbier and William Frawley are members of the cast. "Three Wise Guys" add to the merriment of the program, dealing as it does with three Broadway "chiselers" who meet their match at the hands of a couple of newlyweds.

Robert Young, Betty Furness, Raymond Wall-n and Bruce Cabot are in the featured roles.

Asks Security

PRIME MINISTER Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain, speaking before the House of Commons urged a security pact among England, France and Germany. Above he is shown in academic robes at Cambridge University, where he presented several degrees.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

PHILADELPHIA, June 27. Labor chiefs attending the convention named High Administrationites to be on guard against a series of strikes in major industries around October 1, when the presidential campaign is in full stride. Union men claim that anti-administration forces are secretly planning to inflame labor disturbances in an effort to undermine worker support of Roosevelt. At South in the shadow of Thomas Jefferson against the New Deal, but one of Jefferson's descendants was an enthusiastic Roosevelt devotee. He is Virginia Randolph Shackelford of Virginia, great-grandson of the first Democratic President. Another delegate descendant of a famous man is Peyton C. Frenon of California, whose great-grandfather was the first Presidential candidate of the Republican Party in 1856. Philadelphia's surprise decorations in honor of the convention were designed by Herman Keesee, a staunch Republican.

CHICKENING RICE
Austin Lottimer of Williston, S. C., who as Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms was in charge of policing the speakers' platform, made effective preparations to keep out gate-crashers. He memorized the faces and names of every member of the National Committee. To fortify himself for the strain and excitement of the convention, Jim Farley found his daily ration of chewing gum from one to two packages. Jim even had not only about four hours sleep a night during the past week. The official draft of Senator Allen Barkley's keynote speech ran one hour and forty minutes. After much urging, the Kentucky was persuaded to part it down to a little over an hour.

"One-eye" Connelly was given a ticket for the convention, but that did not change the noted gate-crasher's attitude toward ticket collectors. "Ticket collectors are a menace," he said. "I think it is high time the Supreme Court moved in on those babies."

So great was the demand among delegates and visitors for copies of a Roosevelt-Garner card-board craftsman William C. Aebi, delegate from Hawaii and the official song writer of the convention, has three noted college songs to her credit. He is the author of Yale's famous "Sons of Elk," Leland Stanford's "Sons of the Stanford Red," and Michigan's "Fight, Men of Michigan."

State Senator Hugo Father, of Arizona, caused much embarrassment at National Headquarters the day before the convention opened, by inquiring innocently for a "copy of the platform so I can study it." He was hastily told that despite press reports that the platform was being written in Washington, it would be drafted by the committee of which he was a member. The Democratic Convention went in for variety in badges. There were over fifty different kinds, one that permitted entrance only to the corridors and another only to the basement of the convention hall.

BEST BON MOT
Said Baron Warn, veteran political reporter of the New York Times, after a tumultuous demonstration in tribute to Roosevelt: "The convention ought to keep out of politics." Simon Luce, delegate from Farmington, Maine, was deeply disappointed by Philadelphia. Having never been further from home than Boston, he thought Philadelphia was in the deep South and expected to hear local residents talk with a drawl.

When Governor J. C. B. Ehrlich, of North Carolina, and Governor Glen Johnson of South Carolina met in a huddle on the convention floor, newsmen rushed over in great excitement in the hope of hearing them repeat the historic greeting. But they were merely commenting on the animation of the scene.

New Jersey's deputy Attorney General David Wilentz, the Hamilton prosecutor, carried off the sartorial honors of the convention but no threat of autograph hunters deeded his footstep as they did a few months ago. With Cabinet members, Governors and Senators present in droves, Wilentz was completely overshadowed. Colonel and Mrs. William Bullitt Fitzhugh of Cape Charles, Va., took time out from convention activities to visit a statue that they erected to the Collier's uncle, John Christian Bullitt. Mrs. Fitzhugh, incidentally, is a great-granddaughter of Patrick Henry.

RAY CORDELL HILL
The modest one-hundredth badge of the convention was sent to the widow of Will H. Hays. The little badge star was an intricate design. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, noted for his gravity and decorum, caused a crisis of surprise in the press stands when he paraded, cheering and laughing, around the hall with the Tennessee delegation. Mrs. Albee Parkley, wife of the Kentucky, revealed a secret on her husband. "He doesn't mind being a grandfather," he said, "but he hates like the devil to be married to a grandmother."

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT

By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, June 27.—Opponents may accuse Mayor La Guardia of this or that political fault, but they'll never be able to say truthfully that he was a playboy while in office. Few mayors in the past have worked harder in or out of City Hall, and even when his recurrent back pains overtake him, La Guardia refuses to call time out.

A few days ago a building under construction in the Bronx suddenly buckled and collapsed, burying half a dozen workmen in the debris. The Mayor was broadcasting a public address when he was informed of the accident. He dashed to the scene immediately, and as he stood watching a cry of "help!" was heard from within the wreckage.

Ignoring warnings of danger, La Guardia climbed a ladder, reached the trapped victim and called out words of courage. He stood by as firemen rescued the man, leaning aid where possible.

Myrna Loy And Film Producer Wed In Mexico

HOLLYWOOD, June 27—UP —

Myrna Loy, screen star and Arthur Hornblow, Jr., recently divorced film producer were married at a surprise ceremony at noon today at Ensenada, Baja California. It was announced at M-G-M studio.

French Casino will close its run in a couple of weeks. The whole outfit will then transfer operations to London while the Casino is being renovated for a new revue sometime about the middle of August. Eddie Davis continues on at Leon and Eddie's. He's added some new spicy songs to warm up the air-cooled premises. This is still one of the most popular of the sophisticated spots. A pleasant place to take your girl dancing is the Casino-in-the-Air, nesting on the roof of the Hotel Montclair. Just now they have a novelty number in the form of a trio of electric instruments. Hal Hope, leader of the smooth band, plays the Theremin along with an electric cello and organ. It's an eerie experience to watch the music come literally out of the air. The charming riverfront night club that used to be the Mayfair Vacht Club is now the Continental Water Club. By any name, it remains the intriguing spot from which you can watch the East River boats pass along on-up to the Sound.

WATERLOO. I watched the fight fans as they trooped back from the Yankee Stadium after the Louis-Schmeling upset, and on almost every face was written a sort of cloudy bewilderment. They enjoyed the exciting battle, all right, but it took a long time before they could thoroughly accept the "miracle" they knew had happened.

Not the least shoeshine of the throngs were the court writers and the "sexists" who might have cleaned up a gambler's fortune if they had known the power end of the 10 to 1 odds. Only Jack Johnson and Harry Wills, the colored ex-pugilists, had been laid enough to push-noon Louis' much vaunted power in advance.

But then, these two had the benefit of a racial insight denied the others.

NIGHTIES. The hugely successful "Polles de Femmes" at the Doors opened as the few able-bodied people in the home ran outside. Trembling, Mrs. Jay ran back to the second floor Pan of red swept out of Pop Whistler's door. It flashed across Mrs. Jay's mind that he had left his pipe in his jacket pocket, locked in the bureau drawer, when he had stolen away. By now, the inmates were coming out in night shirts and bathrobes and stumbling toward the stairway.

Martha Jay ordered the old men to help get the women out. Outside, first sound of a siren drew closer, and an engine made the curve to the doorway.

"It's here—here in one corner of the second floor wing!" Mrs. Jay shouted. Some of the firemen ran upstairs, others started hoisting ladders. Soon the driveway to the Home was blocked with fire fighting apparatus. Smoke rolled in black clouds in the halls of the old house.

Frantic screams from feeble throats and pitiful cries from the infirmary were sharp in the noise. "If we can only get them all out safely before the fire spreads," Mrs. Jay cried. Lights suddenly went out. Panic swept along the bed-sides in the smoke-filled blackness.

Mrs. Jay raced down the hall to the women's infirmary. She saw one end was a mass of scarlet and orange flames which roared along through the ceiling and ate along the floors. The August breeze which had been so welcomed an hour ago, now swept the flames along the roof.

AT THE door of the infirmary, Mrs. Jay stumbled over a small figure. She groped down and lifted her. The woman had fainted trying to reach the stairs. Soon others would faint and be trampled on, Mrs. Jay thought. New strength came to her. These women must be saved, one at a time, she realized. She carried the thin and wasted little figure down the stairs and out the doorway to the yard. Rescue workers would soon find her, but grimly, quickly, she unlocked the door.

He came toward her—erect and proud. "I want you to help me," she said. He answered gravely, "I will."

(To be continued.) (The characters in this story are fictitious.)

Meet Me at MIDNIGHT

RUTH LOUISE AYERS

Caroline Jay and Garret Cassidy love each other but because Garret is a shiftless peacock loafer, Caroline's mother has forbidden her to see him. Mrs. Jay, superintendent of the Avon Home for the Aged, wants Caroline to encourage Henry Avon, whose wealthy mother is head of the Home's board of directors, to marry her. One afternoon Caroline meets Garret secretly and they get married. On the way back to town they strike and kill an old man, Pop Whistler, who has just run away from the Home. Frightened, they leave him lying by the roadside. Caroline goes home, keeps a date with Henry Avon and plans to meet Garret at the chapel at the Home at midnight. Mrs. Jay, meanwhile, gets news of the death of Pop Whistler, and hears of the unknown young couple that ran him down. Later that night she sees Garret loitering about the chapel and she locks him in. It is a hot, sultry night and an odd unrest hangs over the Home.

CHAPTER XXX
NO ONE knew afterwards exactly what time the first whisp of smoke curled out of Pop Whistler's room.

Mrs. Greene was nodding sleepily at her desk in the infirmary. Mrs. Jay was in her apartment on the first floor. The old people were snatching their first sleep as a cooling breeze fluttered in through the windows.

Someone on the second floor near Pop Whistler's room stirred uneasily in light sleep. He sat out of bed and moved to the door. There was no mistaking the smoke and strong odor of burning wood.

The frightened old man banged with his cane on the floor. He banged louder as panic seized him. Mrs. Greene heard him as did the two old brothers whose rooms were next door.

Sudden activity sounded where there had been silence before. Mrs. Jay heard her door open suddenly. "Come quick," Mrs. Greene screamed. "Pop Whistler's room is on fire."

"On fire?" Lurching from her chair, Mrs. Jay ran out into the hall. There was the acrid smell of smoke. She rang the fire bell and then ran up the stairs to the second floor. Faint sounds of crackling wood sounded at the end of the hall in Pop Whistler's room. Mrs. Jay decided immediately to shut in the flames as much as possible and started at once to herd the old folks out.

"GET to the infirmary quickly," she said to Mrs. Greene. "Head the people to the fire escapes."

She sped to the third floor, pounded on doors in the quarters where the herd of crackling wood was burning. "There's fire in the house!" she said. "Hurry!"

TEACHER WILL WED LOCAL MAN TONIGHT

In the presence of members of the immediate family this evening at 6 o'clock the marriage of Miss Marjorie Welisch and Edwin Paul Taylor will be solemnized in the Palace hotel, San Francisco. A bridal dinner will follow the ceremony, and then the couple will go north by way of the Redwood high way for a wedding trip.

Giving the bride in marriage will be her father, Walter T. Welisch. Her maid of honor will be a lifelong friend, Miss Wilma Orton of Oakland, and best man for Taylor will be the bride's brother, Walter Welisch, Jr.

Miss Welisch, alumna of San Francisco State College, is a teacher on the Martinez grammar school staff.

Her fiancé is employed in Richmond by the telephone company. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo D. Taylor of Missoula, Mont., and attended Montana and Stanford universities. His fraternity is Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The couple will live in the east bay.

NEWLYWEDS ARE FETED AT SHOWER

Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeCourten, who were married in Oakland on June 19, were honored guests at a shower held at their home, 919 Barrett avenue on Friday evening. Mrs. DeCourten is the former Beverly Rasmussen. Both young people attended the local schools.

Mrs. DeCourten is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Rasmussen of Bureka, formerly of Richmond. Mr. DeCourten is of 2420 Bush street, and is employed by the Atlas Powder company at Galt.

The shower party Friday night was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. John Salvi. Other attending were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Silva and son Tony, Jr. Messrs and Mesdames Iver Pinn, Joseph Costello and Joseph Muren, Misses Bessie DeLaney, Billie Faulkner and Patsy Mower.

Charges are Moderate

It is well to remember that a beautiful mortuary does not mean high prices, as this firm proves. With all the refinements and comforts to be found here, charges are never higher than the smallest incomes can easily afford. By including everything in one plainly marked price, we have made it possible for every family to make an appropriate selection without financial hardship.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Dr. Chrisman Quotes List of Health Hints as Family Medical Guide

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

SHORT, terse statements of facts are often easier to remember than long explanations. Here are some gleaned from recent articles in the medical literature, particularly from the medical magazine published by the American Medical Association. The articles were written in simple language and should furnish instructive and interesting reading for any family, particularly those with growing children.

"Usually the first thing to do when a person faints is to lower his head and keep him flat on his back. Raising the head is dangerous because it makes the supply of blood to the brain more difficult."

"Children crave and need good candy. It should never be eaten before a meal. It destroys the appetite. A reasonable quantity after the meal has been eaten is beneficial. If vaccination were made compulsory, smallpox would be unknown. Rest is the most important remedy in the treatment of infantile paralysis."

Have Dead Teeth Out

"One of the simplest and most effective treatments for seasickness is to lie down, the sooner the better. For those who can't or won't, quite an effective alternative is to dance. A stimulant may overcome the feeling of fatigue but this does not mean that the vitality has been restored."

"Cramping your feet will cramp your natural style. For good health and happiness, count your blessings, make the best of what you have, do the best you can, and then refuse to worry."

"No person should keep dead teeth, if it can possibly be avoided, and it usually can. In combating tuberculosis, the attack must be made during the stage of first infection, and re-infection must be prevented. The first infection usually begins in childhood. The child may not appear sick. He may have a few enlarged glands, be listless, tire easily, have a poor appetite, be underweight and have a slight cough. These children should be carefully examined. It is wise to give them the tuberculin test. It does not cause pain or discomfort, but will show the presence of tubercle bacillus. If positive, treatment and care to avoid re-infection are imperative."

"The most important symptoms of heart weakness are shortness of breath, inability to lie flat, pain in the region of the heart, palpitation and swelling of the feet."

Watch Child's Teeth

"Many bad boys and peevish girls are made so by the nagging of tooth cavities and aching teeth. In cities where the entire milk supply is pasteurized, milk-borne disease is practically unknown. Paper napkins should be worn in locker rooms and gymnasiums and thrown away after use in order to prevent ringworm infection or so-called athlete's foot. Most physicians consider coffee harmful to children, but harmless for normal adults. Diseased tonsils have been proven in many instances to be responsible for incurable heart disease."

"The citrus fruits, mainly oranges, grapefruit, lemons, apricots, and the like are a fair source of vitamins A and B, and an excellent source of vitamin C. They contain minerals and carbohydrates which counteract acidosis, and are important in forming a balanced diet."

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "What is a bride supposed to do with her engagement ring on her wedding day? I have been told that it must be removed from the second finger of the left hand on that day and that it is incorrect to place the wedding ring above the engagement ring at the wedding ceremony."

ANSWER: If the bride wants to wear her engagement ring during the ceremony, it should be removed to the corresponding finger of the right hand. Or she may give it to her mother to wear. She may also leave it home in a safe place.

QUESTION: "Just what is meant by a young society girl's debut?"—Miss Anne C.

ANSWER: A girl's debut or "coming out" is her official introduction to society. Usually she has been acquainted for years with the majority of persons whom she meets "officially" at the tea, dance or supper party at which she is "brought out." Usually a series of such affairs are planned for the young woman. From now on she is a "debutante" and ready to receive invitations.

Profiles For Today

Lady Mayoress at 24 Wears Title Lightly

By TALBOT LAKE

AMONG the arrivals on the Queen Mary was Lady Mayoress Margaret Hall, of Liverpool, England. It is rather an imposing title for a girl of twenty-four, but she carries it lightly.

In England, the Lord Mayor of a city is a rather ceremonious person. His duties are social, rather than actively political. Lady Mayoress Hall's father, the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, is a widower, so the title of Lady Mayoress passed on to his daughter.

Her duties are not light. She rides in the old coach at all state occasions, attends banquets, functions and ceremonies. Except when she's sleeping, she is very busy.

Lady Mayoress Hall sees nothing unusual in our own Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's round of official duties. She thinks that's as it should be and is not surprised. Tall, slender, with black bobbed hair, she is an attractive person, although a trifle more formal and stiff than Mrs. Roosevelt.

She seldom goes out in an official capacity without two gorgeously costumed footmen trailing behind her. During the winter she attends five official dinners a week. To manage a banquet for 250 or 1,000 guests is all in a day for her. She lays cornerstones, makes speeches, gives away prizes, visits hospitals, and hurries from one affair to another daily.

"I keep going from morning till night," she said, "but I like it. Some day I hope to be really active in politics."

At present she's on a holiday, and needs it. She and her father are now sightseeing in New York; then they will visit Niagara Falls. From there they will go to Canada before they return to Liverpool to begin the ceremonial round again.

Her father, a portly but hardy gentleman, was questioned about his job as Lord Mayor. He said nothing, but when pressed, remarked:

"Lord Mayooring is the Lady Mayoress' job."

Making Meals Easy
The homemaker without a dining room or the facilities for extensive preparation of the meal should save herself extra work in serving and in dish washing. The solution to this problem lies in casserole dishes which supply the necessary nourishment with a minimum of work. The one-dish meal is the answer.

Make-up Is Worn Light In Summer

By JACQUELINE HUNT

HOW eagerly we welcome summer! Sophistication is out of place when the mercury rises. Sunny week-ends spent at the beach; hours spent on the tennis courts; golf links or even in a shady garden call for simplicity, healthfulness and naturalness. Even the biggest beauty salons are stressing lighter, more natural make-up for the street and even for parties. Now we can look young, naive and unretouched for a change. This doesn't mean that we can omit make-up altogether, but it means that we should be more careful about the appropriateness of the beauty aids and cosmetics we use.

We can play tennis with a shiny nose if we wish. Or we can be strictly modern and apply a light coat of suntan cream that leaves our skin looking smooth and young. It helps us tan evenly and painlessly. For the beach, most of us still like the suntan oils that can be spread liberally over the skin until it shines. The shine has a way of highlighting pleasing contours, and makes you look solid and lithe.

Gay lips, firm cheeks and bright eyes are all that are needed for the summer picture. New rouges, lipsticks and nail polishes for summer all reflect the coppery tones of suntanned skins. The manufacturer of one of the best known lines has just brought out a new rouge and lipstick in a color called "tan shade" that is bright enough to give dash to gay summer faces.

Another manufacturer has a new rust shade of lipstick that matches his nail polish of the same shade. Both are warm and bright and harmonize beautifully with the suntanned skin.

While last summer brought out many russet and orange-red shades of rouge and lipstick, manufacturers were slower in introducing the orange-red tones into nail polishes. This season, however, brings us at least a dozen shades of russet and orange-red. The newest to reach my desk is "sudan," a sun-burned rose shade that is lovely with suntanned skins and vivid costumes. This shade gives the illusion of depth without intensity and can be worn with almost any costume shade or color combination.

Toenails must be polished this season if we spend any time at the beach or wear the pretty and comfortable sandals we see in every show window. The faded, pretty, much-manicured toenails started last summer, but they are so comfortable that most of us kept up the practice. Use the same polish you use for your fingernails if you wish, or use more vivid shade. A deep, smoky robin's red would be nice with a white or yellow swimming suit.

Coiffures are not elaborate this summer. The ideal coiffure keeps its shape, waves and curls while under a bathing cap and still doesn't look straggly when the wind blows through it. Unless you have a natural curl, you had better have a new permanent wave. Wear your hair short and let it fly. If the bob is fairly long, comb it behind your ears and hold it there with a ribbon.

Beauty Tips
QUESTION: "I notice that you often tell girls to watch their diet of they want clear, unblemished skins. Can you tell me what to eat and what to avoid to get rid of blackheads and clogged pores?"—E. J. R.

The subject of diet is much too lengthy and complicated to discuss here. In general, you should avoid sweets, starchy foods and fat meats. Eat two big salads, and two or three cooked vegetables besides potatoes daily. Drink plenty of water, milk and fruit juices daily. If you want the name of a good book on the subject, I will send it to you upon receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

QUESTION: "I wash my face every day with warm water and soap and rinse in cold. Then I use witch hazel morning, noon and night before retiring. Is witch hazel too drying for my skin? I have been told that I shouldn't use so much or else that I should dilute it. If so, what would I use for the diluting?"—Claudia.

If your skin tends to be oily, the undiluted witch hazel is not too drying for your skin. If it is dry or if it feels drawn or irritated after you have used the witch hazel, then I would suggest that you dilute the witch hazel with an equal amount of rose or orange flower water. The appearance and condition of your skin is the real answer to whether or not you are giving it the right care.

Gowns for Informal Evening Wear

The informal evening gown at the left is in printed black marquisette with shaded blue and red flowers made with a flaring tunic. The bands of the fabric are stitched in rows to form the belt and trimmings. The charming dinner gown at the right is of stiffened black mousseline de soie. An insert of handsomely embroidered white organdie at the skirt hem relieves the all-black effect.

Organdie Is Favored for Graduation

By IRENE VAIL

New York—June brides and June bridesmaids have shown marked preference for white organdie. This will probably follow through the summer. Nets are second only to organdie for gala occasions. For white organdie leads by thousands of yards. Chiffon dresses are less restricted in their purpose than either organdie or net.

As is usual at this season, enormous hats are reappearing, but there are a sufficient number of the diminutive, or so-called doll's hats, to make them a highly important consideration.

I must pass on the news that newer than allover designs. Paris likes small, neat motifs for daytime wear.

Many white background prints are now appearing. These may be worn with either white and shoes or with shoes matching the dominant color in the print and also the hat, unless it is also white. Speaking of shoes, there are many square toe and square heel models. Some of them are in white, although for the most part white buck leads. White with navy are the leaders.

If you are sizing up an evening dress and want to date it, look at its shoulder straps. 1936 models have them narrow and the décolletage is sure to be much lower than last season. There are some new high bodices, of course, but the trend is toward the more open neckline with narrow shoulder strap, and toward accented panyoning jackets. When jackets are worn their sleeves are short and pleated so that a cape is suggested.

Be Ready for Visitors With Simple Desserts

By JUDITH WILSON

LITTLE cakes and simple desserts that can be prepared beforehand are a boon to the social-minded young homemaker who likes to have friends drop in for a snack on Sunday evenings or holidays. They are helpful, too, when you want to prepare a quick family supper on a warm evening.

Mint Cakes
Buy 4 of the large 5 cent peppermint patties. Melt 2 of these in a double boiler, add 1 cup milk and set aside to cool. Cream 1/3 cup shortening with 3/4 cup sugar. Add the yolks of 3 eggs and 1 tablespoon cocoa and beat until light. Add 1 1/4 cups flour that has been sifted with 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt, alternately with the milk and mint mixture. Add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Bake in greased cup cake pans for 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Cool slightly and spread liberally with the following mint frosting:

Melt the other 2 mints in a double boiler, cool and add 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons cream and 3/4 cup confectioner's sugar that has been sifted with 1 tablespoon cocoa. Beat the mixture until very smooth and fluffy.

Ice Cream Queen Mary
Peel large ripe bananas and scoop out some of the pulp to make as many boats as needed. Fill with rich vanilla ice cream and top with quartered strawberries that have been sprinkled with powdered sugar and allowed to stand for 20 minutes.

Orange-Cocoanut Cake
Cream 1/2 cup shortening with 2/3 cup soft 2 cups flour with 2 teaspoons combination type baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add the creamed mixture, alternately with 1/2 cup orange juice and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Beat 4 egg whites until they are fluffy. Slowly add 1/3 cup sugar and beat until the whites stand in peaks. Fold in the flour mixture, pour into two 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 to 40 minutes. Spread the following frosting between the layers and on top of the cake:

Cream 2 tablespoons butter and slowly add 1 1/2 cups confectioner's sugar. Add 2 tablespoons orange juice, the grated rind of an orange and 1/4 cup stiffly whipped cream. Spread on the cake, sprinkle with shredded coconut and decorate with orange sections. This cake is best when served at once. If not, keep in a cool place and omit the orange sections until you are ready to use.

Pineapple Brown Betty
Place a layer of diced pineapple in a greased baking dish and sprinkle with 1/4 cup brown sugar and a little cinnamon. Sprinkle with 1 cup bread crumbs, then add another layer of pineapple, sugar and cinnamon. Top with a thin layer of buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Remove the cover, long enough to brown the crust lightly. Serve warm with whipped cream or lemon-molasses sauce.

MODERN WOMEN

Couples, Not Deeply in Love at First, Often Find True Love Later

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

THE quest for an American couple who can be called "the ideal married couple" is like Diogenes' search for an honest man.

The marriage poll, on which was based the selection of this "ideal couple," was participated in recently by approximately 45,000 people in all parts of the country, and was conducted by a well-known magazine. The married lives of Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell, of Gainesville, Fla., were found to conform closest to the nationally voted ideal.

As far as I know, this is the first poll ever taken to determine popular opinion on the factors constituting such an ideal marriage.

The major conditions specified for marriage, and as found exemplified in the married lives of Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell, were:

Get the Right Mate
Marriage at twenty-five for the man and at twenty-one for the woman; children—either two or three (the McDonnells have two); religious unity of husband and wife; religious training for children; a husband possessing the characteristics of ambition, devotion and affection, and a good disposition; a wife possessing the characteristics of neatness, devotion and affection, and loyalty; family life with active outside social relations; a home independent of relatives or in-laws; good personal appearance of husband and wife; good meals and an attractive home; a non-wage earning wife and one who doesn't interfere in her husband's business affairs; and reasonable financial security (minimum income of $1,450 annually).

Regarding the personal views held by Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell on this question of happy marriage, they are quoted, in part, as follows:

"An ideal marriage and a happy home should be the goal of everyone. Marriage is a sacred institution, and every person entering into this relationship should do so with serious thinking beforehand. Marriage, for instance, should not be considered as a gamble that can be won or lost. It is a partnership—it's a high order of business partnership. . . .

"The most important factor in marriage is to have the right mate to be really happy. A couple must find their life on mutual love and respect. They must not be blinded by mere physical attraction, wealth or social position. Love must be for the person alone without his little faults and mannerisms, and it should be unselfish and self-sacrificing. A husband and wife should be well-mated, physically, mentally and spiritually. It takes all three for an ideal marriage—one that the others will mean weak links in the chain and trouble will follow. . . . and every couple should have children. They are a spiritual experience which no married man and woman should miss."

There will be some dissenting voices from those who are inclined to look upon marriage less seriously. Marriages of convenience are common. They are still regarded as a European custom. For in the older countries, many reasons, other than mutual attraction, are considered sufficient for marriage.

In this country we are inclined to place the accent on love, and to believe that love is the only reason for marriage.

Many young couples, so in love that they believe life is not worth living apart, have made the discovery that it was not worth living together! Many people, not violently in love at first, have discovered that love has overtaken them in their journey toward a self-respecting, useful life.

Almost anyone, even the romanticist, will admit that when people are drawn into marriage, the tenderness, consideration, mutual interests and the hundred and one little ties that bind a man and woman together may lead them into true love.

Short Cuts

If you are working against time and are planning baked potatoes for the meal, use sweet potatoes instead of white. They bake in less time.

There is sediment at the bottom of a bottle of wine, carry and handle the bottle carefully so as not to disturb the sediment. Always pour the wine slowly.

In baking, make use of jams and jellies as fillings. They give a festive air to the plainest of cakes.

Instead of adding butter to spinach, did you know that it is very good if flavored with chopped ham or bacon and drippings?

OLD PEOPLE find way to keep breath wholesome

Halitosis (bad breath) quickly yields to Listerine, safe antiseptic and deodorant

Either because of stomach disturbances, food fermentation, or the wearing of false teeth, old people frequently have halitosis (bad breath).
No wonder others consider them a nuisance.
But new Science has found that the regular use of Listerine will often overcome offensive mouth odors due to the fermentation of tiny bits of food on mouth, teeth, or dental plate surfaces.

This safe antiseptic and quick deodorant works quickly. It cleanses mouth, teeth, and gum surfaces. Halts fermentation and putrefaction, a major cause of odors, and then counteracts the odors themselves.

Try using Listerine every two or three days.
See how much more wholesome it leaves your mouth. How it sweetens your breath. Lambert ber, and his life-long friend, Murphy said.

Both Edgar and "a man named Perkins" broke their first promise to the Governor to "fix up" the revocation of his license, by refusing to restore it at the next board meeting and it was only after considerable political wire-pulling that the license was restored. Murphy testified.

COST $40,000

"That little class with the liquor control officers cost me about $40,000 and it seems a shame to me that we taxpayers who have to support these birds in office should be forced to put up with this sort of thing," Murphy said.

About the same time, Murphy testified, Merle Templeton, Los Angeles liquor control chief told him he was going to get the licenses of several large breweries including Lucky Lager, the General Brewing Company Valley Distributors, and Associated Distributors.

POWER IS DESCRIBED

Murphy also described another asserted attempt by Mrs. Helen Werner, politician to obtain money from liquor license holders.

"A Mr. Hahn, president of the Clover Club, told me Helen Werner wanted $25,000 and 25 per cent of his place to get his name off the list of liquor licenses slated to be revoked," Murphy said, "I told him to keep his money in his pocket."

FRAMING TOLD

Murphy told the committee of an asserted "frame up" by liquor control officers of Bob Heslin, club operator.

"His license was revoked on a charge he had sold liquor to a minor," Murphy said. "The charges purportedly were preferred by the youth's mother but after Heslin's license had been revoked I learned the address given by the officers as the residence of the mother was a vacant lot."

MONEY DEMANDED

Murphy substantiated testimony yesterday by two liquor dealers, Harold Reiss and Max Silverman, that they had been victims of "shakedowns."

"On one occasion, Murphy said he went to Murray Parsons, former Los Angeles liquor control officer, about Reiss' license troubles."

"I told him a mysterious person had demanded first $1000 and then $2000 from Reiss to obtain his license for him," Murphy said. "He replied that I knew my onions and to go back and see that fellow."

double and horribly scared, bones crushed, splintered and piercing flesh, skin and meat scarred and ground to abhorrent masses—these are the by-products of speed, the mania that lures most drivers, at times, to take chances.

The enormous toll in life and limb can be greatly curtailed in any city or community that wishes to do so. It is not at all an inevitable price to pay for the automobile nor are the accidents as "unavoidable" as routine jurors so often report. Back of most of the highway injuries an investigation will reveal some regulation violated, some false assumption of right by a driver and a careless disregard of the rights of those who try to use the highways safely.

Strict and rigid enforcement of same traffic laws will reduce these accidents to an astonishing extent. Careless parking, speeding, recklessness on curves and in passing other vehicles, mechanical and human defects can be eliminated from the highways through a systematic drive against offenders pushed to the limit by officers who "know nobody." So far as this newspaper is concerned it hopes to see just such a relentless pressure upon careless and wanton drivers by State and municipal authorities.

Arabian Army Reports Denied

JERUSALEM, June 27.—UP.—F. G. Peake, chief of the British Public Security in Transjordan, today denied report abroad that 60,000 armed Bedouin tribesmen are preparing to move into Palestine to assist the Arabs against the Jews and the British if necessary. "It is nonsense," Peake said. "There are not 60,000 armed men in the entire Transjordan."

Eve," Gruenwald said. "Both told me that the girl was 21 years of age and I took their word for it—that's the only reason I permitted the girl to enter my place. The mother asked me if the girl couldn't dance on the floor show program and I told her that the 'spots' were all filled."

Gruenwald said the girl later gave an impromptu dance and that her mother asked if she couldn't come to the resort to practice dancing on week-ends.

"LOOKED HER AGE"
"Her mother said the girl had danced for the past year in various Oakland hotels, at veterans' headquarters and at an East Oakland tavern."

The girl looked her age, so I consented to permit her to practice at my place. She brought her costume and eventually we permitted her to dance regularly. We never hired her. My manager gave her small sums for transportation at various times, though . . . but I took both their words that the girl was of age and never looked into it further," Gruenwald said.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

The case came to the attention of authorities in Police Court in Oakland when the girl charged that she went to a San Pablo Avenue hotel room with Joseph Barros, a musician, who formerly worked at the El Cerrito Club, last May 18. She said they had a number of drinks and later she had Barros arrested on an assault charge.

Barros entered a plea of not guilty and his preliminary examination was set for next Wednesday.

GIRL TELLS STORY

The girl said that on last New Year's Eve she went to the Wagon Wheel with her mother. She said she performed an impromptu dance and created "such a sensation" that she was hired for week-end shows.

During the hearing in Police Court, Lawrence Davton, prosecuting attorney, raised the question of why a young girl was permitted to dance at an establishment where liquor was sold. This, he pointed out, is in direct violation of State laws.

The girl's mother said she accompanied the girl to the establishment on the nights she danced there, and that on last May 18, when the attempted attack was alleged to have taken place, she permitted her daughter to attend a theater with Barros. Instead of attending the show, she said she learned her daughter told her that Barros took her to the hotel, where she became intoxicated.

BRITISHER ATTACKED

Considerable tension on both sides was evident elsewhere in China. In Tsingtao, Shantung province, Japanese consular police were called to quell about 700 Japanese, who, after holding mass meetings, tried to storm the Chinese customs building and the home of A. Campbell, British commissioner of the Chinese customs. The Japanese were incensed by recent incidents in which Chinese customs cruisers fired on Japanese vessels suspected of smuggling.

There was also tension involving the United States, France and Germany. In Peiping, the Japanese delivered a reply to the French embassy, denying that Japanese soldiers had thrust foreigners aside with bayonets during a Japanese parade earlier in the week.

The activity was jinxed by bad weather, and eight Army fliers were killed.

SUITS FILED

With passage of new legislation President Roosevelt and Farley reject the airmail contracts, and private airlines once more took over the work.

The Northwest Airways, Inc., Western Air Express, Inc., Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and the American Airways, Inc., filed damage suits for return of $8,841,094 because of the annulment.

Northwest Airways sought $521,378. Western Air sued for $771,435. Transcontinental and Western Air demanded $2,634,280. American Airways filed two suits for $4,851,000.

SETTLEMENT MADE

With the action recommended by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, Farley settled for these figures:

Northwest Airways, $51,365; Western Air, $50,711; Transcontinental and Western Air, $183,365; American Airways $315,568.

French Fascists In Battle With Paris Officers

PARIS, June 27.—UP.—Eight thousand Nationalist demonstrators cheering for Col. Robert de la Rocque leader, clashed with police tonight on the Champs Elysees.

De la Rocque announced formation of a French social party to replace his Fascist Croix de Feu organization, recently outlawed by the government.

"Conquest of power for the salvation of France," is the aim of the party, de la Rocque said, adding that his new party already has eight members in the Chamber of Deputies. He predicted a huge membership. The Croix de Feu claimed nearly 1,000,000 members.

The Nationalist demonstration followed de la Rocque's announcement. The Nationalists carried battle flags and shouted, "de la Rocque to power." The march down Champs Elysees followed a ceremony at the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Police charged the marchers broke up the procession and drove the demonstrators down side streets.

DEFENDS COMMON MAN

Mr. Roosevelt likened the economic royalists of today to the political royalists against whom the national patriots in 1776 led an insurrection.

Hammering at special privilege and defending "the common man," the President said economic royalists complained that the New Deal sought to overthrow the institutions of America.

ENDORSES PLATFORM

The President accepted and endorsed the party platform which was adopted here this week without a dissenting vote. Then he pitched the campaign on a triple-note of New Deal objectives:

1—Protection of family and home
2—Establishment of a democracy of opportunity

3—Aid for the man, woman or child overtaken by disaster.

Mr. Roosevelt cast the American people in the role of saviors of world democracy. In other lands, he said, some weary people had "sold their heritage of freedom for the illusion of living."

"They have yielded their democracy," he continued. "I believe in my heart that only our success can stir their ancient hope. They begin to know that here in America we are waging a great war."

"To some generations much is given. Of others much is expected. This generation of Americans has a rendezvous with destiny."

was riding collided with an automobile driven by John A. Murray, 24, a sailor on the U. S. S. Pennsylvania.

Both cars were overturned. Leroy Shafer, 20, driver of the truck, escaped injury as did Murray. Minetta was catapulted from the truck and suffered a fractured skull when he struck the pavement.

He leaves a wife and three children.
